

By accessing and using this website, the user agrees to the following provisions:

Exclusion of liability

Any liability for any damage – direct or indirect – resulting from access to and use of this site is expressly rejected by us.

We do not guarantee the error-free and uninterrupted functioning of this website.

Information on this website

We strive to ensure that all information on this website is correct. We also strive to ensure that all information contained in the modules offered on this website is correct and that these modules function correctly and without interruption. However, we reject any form of liability for imperfections or inaccuracies in the information displayed on or by this website or in the functioning of the modules offered on this website. Nor do we accept any liability for incompleteness or inaccuracy of information from third parties referred to on this website. Although we will make every effort to ensure that the online transmission of data is as reliable and secure as possible, we accept no liability regarding to consequences and/or damage caused by the online transmission of data by users of this website. All information on this site (including but not limited tot texts, photos, illustrations, graphic material, references or hyperlinks to other websites) can be changed by us without prior notice.

Any information provided on this website about insurance, mortgages, money matters, investments or in the legal and fiscal area, or recommendations made in this regard, may never be construed as personal advice. You should always verify the accuracy and completeness of this information and always evaluate the information in consultation with us or your legal or tax advisor for your personal situation.

References and hyperlinks

References or hyperlinks to other sites which are not owned by us are only for the information of the user of this website. These websites are not maintained by us and we have no involvement in the form and content of these websites. We therefore do not give any guarantee or accept any liability with regard to the accessibility and content of those websites.

Intellectual property rights

All data presented on this website, including texts, photos, illustrations, (trade) names, logos, word and figurative marks are the property of or licensed to us or another parties and are protected by copyright, the trademark law or any other intellectual property right. It is prohibited to copy, reproduce, forward, distribute, make public or make available to third parties for a fee.

Viruses

We do not guarantee that the information, software, references or hyperlinks accessible through this website are free of viruses or similar harmful components.